Gamboge. Gamboge is one of the artist's most important yellows. It is the gum resin of a tree which bears yellow flowers and leathery, laurel-like leaves. The name of the pigment indicates the country from which it comes, for gamboge is simply a corruption of Camboja or Cambodia. In this far eastern country the tree grows wild and sheds those sticky tears which help the artist to paint the sunrise and the autumn tints of the woods. Gamboge was brought to Europe by merchants from the east toward the end of the sixteenth century.-London Answers.
